The tradition of Nanjing Beite AC Equipment Co., Ltd began in 2005. It is a comprehensive enterprise integrating R&D, design, production and sales. Leading the field of HVAC circulating water equipment for over 17 years, through our strategic partnerships, extensive manufacturing and design experience, advanced R&D capabilities, highly skilled engineers and advanced technology, we provide world-class solutions to our renowned customers in the region. Utilizing advanced mechanical equipment and cutting-edge technical facilities, it has become one of the world's leading suppliers of filters, constant pressure water supply equipment, volumetric heat exchangers, and dosing equipment.

Nanjing Beite is a high-tech comprehensive enterprise specializing in the research and development, production, sales and after-sales service of HVAC water treatment equipment.

Beite has two production plants in Nanjing Liuhe and Anhui Chahe, four standardized plants and two office buildings, with a total area of 48,000 square meters and 15 industry technical experts. We mainly provide corresponding water treatment equipment for HVAC circulating water system, one-stop supply and service. Our main products include: diaphragm air pressure tank, volumetric heat exchanger, constant pressure water supply equipment, heat exchanger unit, automatic dosing equipment, whole-process integrated water processor, physical and chemical whole-process water processor, etc. product.

At present, we have provided services for more than 5,000 projects at home and abroad, and have been applied to large-scale projects such as the Hong Kong-Zhuhai-Macao Bridge Project, Beijing Daxing Airport Project, Youth Olympic Stadium Project, Nanjing Children's Hospital, and Nanjing Metro Line 4 and Line 10. middle. Bet's products have been sold all over the world, if you have any professional questions, please consult Beite.